G.P.O. GHOST CAR

ROUND-UP OF BRITAIN'S WIRELESS PIRATES

LIMOUSINE BODY AS A DISGUISE

London, Oct. 6.—The Post Office "ghost car" is to make another run soon to round up wireless pirates—those who listen-in though they have no licence in force. The run is to begin at some unknown "zero" hour moon, but before that the G.P.O. officials hope to have the unlicensed on the run—to the nearest police office.

The "drives" are profitable to the nation, for the last one brought in £130,000 and still the authorities believe that there are hundreds of thousands of unlicensed listeners. "The time has come when we must show our teeth," an official stated.

"We have been collecting information and mobilising our forces for months; our apparatus for detection has been perfected and everything is ready for the fray," the official added. "This is a surprise attack, and on a bigger scale than anything ever attempted before. In the 9,000,000 homes of this country there are only 4,750,000 wireless licences."

Means by which the unlicensed can be discovered are said to be better than ever. The "ghost car," an ordinary-looking limousine with an extraordinary internal arrangement, has been improved out of recognition.

Wizard on Wheels.

"That car is a marvel," said the official, "and is a secret. Not ten people in London have ever seen it knowingly. Anyone would pass it for an ordinary car. It is a wizard on wheels."

In addition, we have mobilised an army of investigators on foot. We know the names and addresses of hundreds of suspected pirates. Bournemouth, the official mentioned, heads the list of towns with most wireless licences per 1,000 of the population. It has 190 per 1,000. Leicester is next with 120, and London third with 105. The authorities consider that the London figure should be nearer 200.

Aberdeen has only 69 per 1,000 and has fallen from first place which she held for a number of years. Glasgow has 49 and Belfast 43.

Ten years ago there were fewer than 5,000 licence-holders. Last year there were 4,821,000.

CHINESE PORCELAIN

EXHIBITION OF GULLAND COLLECTION

A large selection of Chinese porcelain from the Gulland Collection has been placed on view at the Victoria and Albert Museum, South Kensington, to which it was bequeathed in 1930. Mr. W. G. Gulland, an East India merchant, who spent the greater part of his life in the East and collected porcelain for nearly half a century, in 1905 presented to the Museum some 125 examples illustrating the different kinds of glazes employed by Chinese factories. By his will the remainder of his collection, consisting of 325 pieces, came to the Museum.

The Gulland collection, which is to be the subject of a special handbook, offers many points of comparison with the Salting collection already in the Department of Ceramics, and many of the pieces are of equal artistic value. The majority were made at the Imperial factories of Chingde Chen. An interest additional to their aesthetic claims is provided in many instances by their decoration with paintings representing historical and legendary episodes which are only gradually being identified.

"Blue-and-White" Ware.

Most of the pieces were made under the Manchu of Ch'ing dynasty, ranging in date from K'ang Hsi (1662-1722) to Chia Ch'ing (1736-1820); but among earlier pieces there are several examples of Ming porcelain and two fine examples of the "Porzyski" family, a style well known from examples at Hampton Court Palace. The nucleus of the collection consists of "blue-and-white" ware, painted in underglaze-blue, each piece by a single hand; a K'ang Hsi porcelaine jar and a flower vase, given in 1790 to a temple of the war-god, being outstanding examples.

The rare famille noire is represented by a balluster vase and a fine pair of bowls, while an exceptionally interesting club-shaped famille verte vase bears the characters for Fu (happiness) and Shou (longevity), with inset panels showing the one side the three star-gods of Happiness, Longevity, and Prosperity, and on the other the Queen Mother of the West receiving homage from the Eight Immortals. Good pieces of famille rose are numerous.

WORLD'S

"ECONOMIC" INDIGESTION

TRANSPORT EXPERT SEES ERA OF CO-OPERATION

LABOUR PROBLEM AT BRITISH DOCKS

Sir David J. Owen, in his presidential address to the Institute of Transport at the Institution of Electrical Engineers said:—"Our problem to-day is largely one of exchange and distribution. The world is yielding her produce bountifully, yet there is a large amount of poverty, and the whole world is in a state of economic indigestion."

"The day of international co-operation has dawned, and the era of unlimited competition within the family circle has nearly gone. There is scope for considerable scientific research as regards co-operation between all branches of transport."

"I visualise a day not far distant when the legitimate function of each of the various methods of transport will be defined clearly and regulated in the best interests of the national needs, and then docks and harbours will be seen acting as efficient links between sea and the various forms of land transport."

The Cry for Machinery.

Dealing with the complaint that we were not getting advantage from our dock machinery commensurate with the expenditure upon it, he said there were no special appliances in use of Continental ports that were not known and employed fully in most British ports.

"The cry for more machinery," he added, "frequently comes from people who do not appreciate that mere machinery is not the solution of all problems relating to costs of handling."

"I have visited many ports in the United States and have found there, where human ingenuity has gone to great lengths in mechanical appliances, generally an absence of such appliances for the handling of general merchandise on the quays, needed, if the discharging and loading vessels being mostly left to the ship's own gear. There is nothing there to compare with the enormous number of quay cranes in most British ports."

Why Not Night and Day Work?

"It seems absurd for the work of discharging and loading vessels generally to be restricted to certain hours except at penal rates of pay for labour. Imagining the smaller amount of shipping tonnage that would be sufficient to carry on the maritime trade of this country, and the less extensive dock accommodation that would consequently be needed, if the discharging and loading of ships were carried on continuously night and day and the resultant cheapening of costs."

CAN FINGER-PRINTS LIE?

A JUROR'S DOUBT

A juror at Notis Quarter Session said that he was not satisfied with finger-print evidence alone.

This was after Detective-Inspector Garrett, of New Scotland Yard, had declared: "The science of finger-prints is the only infallible thing on earth. Finger-prints do not lie."

Percy William Morton, 29, motor driver, Nottingham, was charged with breaking into a shop and stealing drums of oil.

Finger-prints, including one with a scar on the ring-finger of the left hand, were found on a pane of glass in the shop.

At the request of prosecuting counsel, Morton had his finger-prints taken in court, and they were examined through a powerful magnifying glass by the jury.

After an hour's absence, the jury announced that they could not agree. They were discharged, and Morton was ordered to be retried.

PARLIAMENT DOWN THE AGES

PRIME MINISTER'S BROADCAST

"LET US INCREASE ITS PRESTIGE."

LONDON, Sept. 30.
"I want to increase the prestige of Parliament," declared the Prime Minister in a National broadcast. "That is in itself," he went on, "a thing to be cared for at a time when Parliaments are being broken in other countries, and when, between the wind of the demagogue and the vanity of the dictator, it is being questioned in our own."
Mr. MacDonald was discussing on interim report which is published to-day of a committee that has been acquiring information for more than three years past (under the chairmanship of Cdr. Josiah Wedgwood, M.P.) on the personnel and politics of members of the House of Commons between the years 1284 and 1832.

"What a Pageant!"
Mr. MacDonald said that the report enabled them to see the House at Westminster as an organic and unbroken whole through all the centuries. And what a pageant it would be when all the volumes were completed!

It would be found that every family of note which dug its roots into British soil and flourished found a place in our Parliamentary records.

There were 200 Parliaments to which the Commons were summoned before the death of Elizabeth and 35 down to 1832, each with anything from 204 to 358 members, and the committee emphasised the need for the identification of each member—where he came from, what he was and what he did. There would be over thirty thousand biographies to write, and the sources of search were mostly in manuscript. Some of these stories would read as romances.

Among the interesting facts that had come to light through the committee's researches Mr. MacDonald mentioned that

The murderers of the Princes in the Tower sat beside the designer of Henry VIII's chapel.

The first English surgeon, John Somersell, found his place.

The pirate, Bob Wennington, sat for Dartmouth, the Cells for Stamford, and both Cromwells, Thomas and Oliver, spoke from the benches of the House of Commons.

The pious bookseller who founded Guy's Hospital was a Whig member.

Every Wentworth, Wingfield, Harcourt, Hampden, Talbot and Trevelyan had his borough or county seat, and

When the Scots came in, Campbell Hamilton, and Stewart fought it out on the floor of the House.

The First By-election.

Questions to be elucidated by this work were the following:

When was the first by-election called for?

When did Mr. Speaker for the first time issue his warrant to the Clerk of the Crown to make out a new writ?

When first did the King's Ministers think it desirable to be elected to the Lower House, and why?

When were outsiders first elected?

What was the significance in Parliamentary representation of the borough of Ludlow's charter of incorporation in 1692, by which it gained the right to send a non-resident to represent it in Parliament?

Why did people desire or otherwise to be elected?

Why did they desire to be re-elected?

Further they proposed to investigate such subjects as the invasion of the House of Commons by lawyers, by adventurers, by social impostors after social interest, the payment of salaries to members, and many other matters.

Mr. MacDonald's plan for financial help in the compilation of the record was due to the fact that no provision has been made to meet the cost of preparing the record by the Exchequer.

The Committee, in its report, states that the cost of preparation will be about £30,000, and the work could be done within five to ten years. It suggests that, in the absence of any grant from the Exchequer, an authoritative appeal, backed by the Government, would ensure successful response.

The estimate of £30,000 does not include the cost of publication, which, it is felt, would be borne by a publishing house.

SPAIN'S SURPLUS WOMEN

CAUSE ALARM TO POLITICIANS

Madrid.—Spain's surplus of women constitutes the biggest question mark in envisaging the future political development of the Second Republic.

The numerical superiority of women renders the prospect of a government controlled by feminine votes a theoretical possibility. Absolute control is not a practical probability, but that the women's votes will be of profound importance is admitted on all sides.

Woman's suffrage was written into the Constitution in Article 38, which says that "the citizens of both sexes, or 23 years of age or more, shall have the same electoral rights"—an article approved practically without a struggle. Women in Spain, with notable exceptions, showed little interest in getting the vote.

Question of Franchise.

The provisional government of the Republic, when it called the general elections of June 28, 1931, did not decree women's suffrage, but did make them eligible for membership in the Cortes Constituent. As a result, three women deputies were elected out of a total of 470, namely, Victoria Kent, Clara Campoamor, and Margarita Nelken.

After having decided that the women should have the vote, the Cortes were confronted with the necessity of deciding when that right should be effective. Many deputies were in favour of postponing their participation in general elections for deputies to Cortes until after they had first participated in municipal elections. Clara Campoamor led the fight against such a restriction, and in this she was supported by the Socialists and other parties and won out by a majority of only two votes!

Numerical Superiority.

Hence, by that simple majority of two, from the very moment that the next general elections are convoked, the importance of the numerical superiority of women over men in Spain begins to be an imposing reality—a nightmare to some.

How will the women vote? It will be recalled that when General Primo de Rivera was Dictator, he had a project for a new constitution for Spain, and in it he included woman's suffrage. The late Dictator was confident that they would vote conservatively—probably influenced by their parish priest or their confessor.

23 MILES OF COTTON AS DECORATION

TEXTILE EXHIBITION PLACES BIG DRAP- ERY ORDER

An order for close upon 23 miles of cotton drapery to decorate the textile section of the British Industries Fair at the White City next February was one of the first to be put in hand when the Lancashire weavers resumed work.

"The weaving of the material will be started straight away," said Mr. F. E. Lewis the organiser of the textile exhibition, in an interview. "There are 40,000 yards of it, and it will be the dominating feature of the decorative scheme prepared by Mr. Joseph Emberton, the well-known architect, to transform the White City during next year's British Industries Fair."

Weeks of Work.

"The time at our disposal is not so ample as might be imagined. After the cotton has been woven it has to be bleached, dyed, and finished, and then disproofed to the satisfaction of the London County Council."

"There are weeks of work in cutting it out, sewing it up, and matching it in the 20 different shades with which the White City will be beautified next spring. But we shall do the job in good time."

CANCER MAY BE CURED

STATEMENT AT AMERICAN COLLEGE OF SURGEONS

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—At least 8,503 persons have been definitely cured of cancer in the United States and Canada, it was stated at a session of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons here.

Distinguished specialists have reported to the College of Surgeons more than 4,000 authenticated cases of cancer cured by means of surgery, or radium, or both. The number of cures registered with the College in addition is 1,283.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, of Rochester, Minnesota, has reported that as the results of treatment at the Mayo Clinic 881 have been cured, while Dr. George W. Crile has reported 737 cures in cases treated by himself and his associates in the Cleveland Clinic.

It is pointed out that in each of these instances the patient treated was alive and well after five years—the period during which it is assumed that the disease would reappear, if not eradicated.

Cure Can Be Effected.

This symposium was given in order to impress doctors, and indirectly the public, with the fact that there existed well-established methods by which cancer may be cured if diagnosed and treated in time.

Dr. H. M. Francis, of Chicago, the Director-General of the College of Surgeons, said that in his opinion if all cases of cancer could be diagnosed early and treated by the latest methods, the annual death-rate from the disease, which now amounts to no less than 150,000 in the United States and Canada, would be reduced by at least one-third.

He predicted that the impressive evidence of the curability of cancer given at that session, if made widely known, would cause an increasing number of persons to take the cure.

BRITISH BRIDGE LEAGUE

GROWTH IN DOMINIONS AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

In addition to the steady progress made in the British Bridge League at home, there is much activity in the Dominions and in foreign countries. Centres have been established in Australia, Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, Kenya, and Zanzibar, covering most of the principal districts. The league also has representatives in Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Portugal, Switzerland, and America. Members of the league proceedings overseas are invited to apply for particulars of these branches, as the several secretaries will be pleased to render any assistance possible.

Although there are obstacles to overcome in the organization of such an event, it is probable that one of the tasks of the British Bridge League in the near future will be to organize an Empire Tournament.

TRADE DEPRESSION AND SUICIDE

MENTAL INSTABILITY THE CHIEF FACTOR.

New York, Oct. 2.—The theory that economic conditions are responsible for the increase of suicides is disputed by Dr. Louis L. Dublin, the statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who argues that although suicides are now responsible for 20,000 deaths annually in the United States, the mental condition of the individual rather than the general depression is their cause. He points out that "suicides represent a group more easily upset mentally and emotionally than the average."

The suicide rate now sharply increasing began as early as 1925 and has mounted steadily every year since. This period includes the feverishly prosperous years 1927 and 1928.

Dr. Dublin inclines to blame post-war reaction for much of this increase, showing that the war years brought a declining rate with the minimum in 1920, arguing, "so many things of great significance were happening that personal difficulties were submerged. Life on the whole was an adventure in those days and the suicide rate declined to nominal figures."

WINTER HIGH LIGHTS

(By EILENE FOSTER, Special from
The Christian Science Monitor Bureau.)

Paris.—It was Jean Patou who provided the great sensation of the winter collections by his revival of the low waistline, which in many of the models was placed at the hips. This return to the mode of a few short seasons ago came like a bolt from the blue and it is still a mooted question as to whether or not it will be accepted by fashionable women who have only just become accustomed to the higher belt-line. M. Patou stands quite alone in sponsoring this revival, for the other great dressmaking houses, almost without exception, are showing models which have the waistline even a wee bit higher than its natural position.

There are so many lovely clothes to tell you about that one hardly knows where to begin, so suppose we just touch on the general drift of the fashions and leave the details to come later. In the first place, we are all interested in the length of the skirts. There is little change in these, they vary a little in the different houses but skirts and street skirts remain from 10 to 12 inches from the ground, afternoon frocks are a bit longer, often reaching to the ankles and evening gowns reach the instep or just touch the floor. Skirts are not so ample as those of the last two seasons, in fact, many of those designed for the street, especially for the tailored suit, are almost as tight as the old-fashioned hobble-skirt. A favourite form of street skirt, which I saw in a number of the new collections had a perfectly plain back and a group of pleats, or in some models, a narrow, shirred panel, placed in the centre of the front.

Diversity in Sleeves.

Bodices are plain with interesting necklines and a belt of the same material. Sleeves, as a rule, are simpler in design than those of last season and I noticed in several of the best houses a return to the long, straight, plain sleeve. The leg-of-mutton ("gigot") variety is used on many of the new winter coats and there are also new interpretations of the raglan sleeve. Flat puffs are still seen on the upper part, giving a wide effect to the shoulder. The broad shoulder, by the by, is still seen but in a modified degree compared with last season's models. Fullness at the elbow or from the elbow to the wrist is used on sleeves of lighter weight materials and there are several varieties of what are known as "gauntlet sleeves" in vogue. Frocks are as simple as can be, depending for their individuality on subtle cutting, the use of new materials and new colours and interesting arrangements of the neckline and the sleeve. The princess form is used a great deal for the afternoon and evening.

Coats are quite plain and straight with huge folded collars and deep cuffs or elbowbands of fur. Astrakhan is still the favourite fur and after this comes the old-fashioned American seal, nutria, leopard, gullion and ermine. The coat of the winter ensemble may be either full length or three-quarters. The jackets of tailored sports or street costumes remain short, reaching only a few inches below the waistline and very few are worn with a belt. For the dressier type of costume the jackets are much longer, often nearly as long as a two-thirds length coat.

Round waist-length capes of fur are shown with autumn street frocks of heavy woollen material, with a muff of the same fur. Several houses have also revived the long cape, two-thirds or three-quarters in length, made of the same material as the frock, with flatter shoulders and trimmed with a band of fur which goes around the neck and extends down both sides of the front. And by the by the cape in all its different forms is still extensively used on both coats and frocks.

A wealth of the new materials has been created for the winter season, among the most interesting of which are the velvets. There are, first of all, the new, uncrushable velvets, sometimes in a plain weave and sometimes in lines or tiny squares of fine ribs, and sometimes "crushed," resembling in appearance, though not in texture, for they are as soft as chiffon, the covering of grandmother's best parlour furniture. One variety of this which is being used a great deal for short (Continued on next column.)

PORT IMPROVEMENTS IN PORTUGAL

GOVERNMENT ALLOCATES $8,000,000.

During the past year there has been considerable activity in improving the ports of northern Portugal. Consul Leslie A. Davis, Oporto, reports that about $8,300,000 has been appropriated by the Government for this work, of which more than $5,000,000 was allocated to the ports of Leixoes, Vianna do Castelo, and Aveiro.

Approximately half of the total appropriation was for Leixoes, the Atlantic port for Oporto. This project involves the construction of an additional mole, 1,000 metres in length, outside the harbour; the dredging and removal of rock from the harbour; and the construction of a dock. Work on the mole was begun by a Netherland firm in August, 1932, and is expected to be completed by February, 1937. English, Netherland, Danish, and American machinery is being used. The contracting company is under the direction of an English engineer and is said to be backed by British capital. Bids were invited in 1931 for the dredging of 1,000,000 cubic metres of sand and mud and the breaking and removal of 300,000 cubic metres of rock from the harbour; no contract has been awarded, as the bids were considered excessive. Construction of the dock awaits signature of the contract by the Government.

Little progress has been reported on the Douro River port or the port of Viana do Castelo.

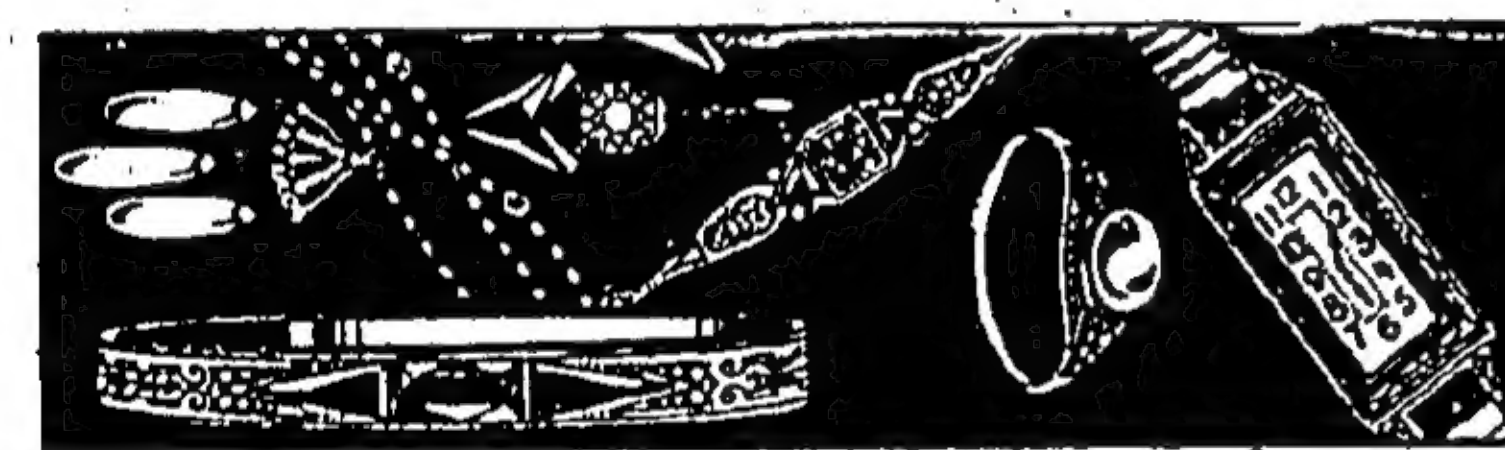

Work on the river port of Aveiro began in June with the construction of a mole along the north side of the entrance to the Vongas River. This work, costing approximately $830,000, has been awarded to a Lisbon contractor. Some machinery is being procured from the United States, but it is understood that most of it will come from the Netherlands and Belgium. The entire project, including dredging work, is expected to be completed within three and a half years.

evening jackets and capes looks exactly like shaven fur. Another new velvet which is extremely popular for evening gowns and wraps and for formal afternoon costumes has a dull mat surface. There are also velvets in corduroy weaves, which are used for street ensembles. All in all, there can be no doubt of the popularity of velvet for the coming season.

Corded and Ribbed Weaves.

And after the velvets, there are marvellous new woollen materials in corded weaves, sometimes heavily corded and sometimes in smaller ribbing. These are used most effectively by the Parisian designers, for they may be cut on the horizontal, vertical, or diagonal way of the goods, and often the three are skillfully combined in a frock giving variety to what appears a perfectly simple garment. Among the lighter woollens, one of the favourites is the new Rodier material which is made of wool and rabbit hair and is called "Dijalop." This replaces Rodier's famous kasha and is even softer and lovelier in texture. There are also new jerseys, some with a satin finish which are charming for the afternoon or evening frock, crinkly crepe of wool or of a mixture of silk and wool, and the new heavy all silk ones which are one of the outstanding successes of the season. Nearly every one of the dressmaking houses is showing evening frocks of this heavy crinkled crepe in ivory white, simple in line, without ornamentation, but extremely distinguished and universally becoming.

Among the colours of the new season, the first place must be given to the browns, not to any one shade, for each house appears to have its favourite and the shade ranges from tête-de-nègre, seal, golden and cinnamon to café-au-lait. And after the browns there are the purples (purply-reds and red purples), pinks, and reds (cabbages)—these are only a few of the old-fashioned garnet and scarlet. Honnas and a lighter brick color are both popular shades for the street and sports costume. Olive and moss green is also often seen and there are new shades of bluey-green and greeny-blue. A new light red which has taken the place of geranium and lacquer is appropriately named "azalea." White still holds first place for evening, and black, especially in velvet, promises to be another favourite. There are also innumerable evening frocks in the new brown and purple shades as well as in pale green, pink and blue.

PRISON REGULATIONS

THE "SILENT SYSTEM" MODIFIED

OFFICIAL SIDELIGHTS ON LIFE IN GAOL

The Government Gazette contains a draft ordinance relating to prisons. Existing regulations are "amended and consolidated," but the most interesting change is that Sub-section (b) of section 7 has been omitted, the view of the Superintendent of Prisons being that "a modern prison cannot be run on the 'silent' system. At work, at exercise and in hospital prisoners talk. To prevent them communicating with one another is impossible. Talking in reason is not objected to by the prison administration, and excessive talking can be dealt with under the rules."

Rules for Prisoners.

For those interested in "prisoners and captives" the following extracts from the regulations may be of interest.

Medical Treatment in G.O.H.

The Superintendent of Prisons on being satisfied that a prisoner is suffering from a disease and cannot be properly treated in a prison, or that he should undergo and desires to undergo a surgical operation which cannot properly be performed in a prison, may order that the prisoner be taken to the Government Civil Hospital or other suitable place for the purpose of treatment or the operation, and while absent from the prison in pursuance of such order the prisoner shall be deemed to be in legal custody.

Prisoners of unsound mind shall be dealt with in the manner prescribed by the Asylums Ordinance.

Separation.

The following rules shall be observed with respect to the separation of prisoners:

(1) In every prison separate cells shall, as far as possible, be provided equal in number to the average of the greatest number of prisoners who have been confined in such prison at any time during each of the preceding five years;

(2) In every prison punishment cells shall be provided or appropriated for the confinement of prisoners for prison offences;

(3) In a prison containing female as well as male prisoners, the women shall be imprisoned in separate buildings, or separate parts of the same buildings, in such manner as to prevent their seeing, conversing or holding any intercourse with the male prisoners;

(4) In a prison where debtors are confined, means shall be provided for separating them as far as possible from the criminal prisoners;

(5) In a prison where prisoners under the age of sixteen years are confined, they shall be kept separate from prisoners of or above that age.

No cell shall be used for the separate confinement of a prisoner unless it has been approved in writing by the Governor for the purpose, and the Governor shall not give his approval in respect of any cell unless he is satisfied that it is of such a size, and is lighted, ventilated and fitted up in such a manner as may be requisite for health, and is furnished with the means of enabling the prisoner to communicate at any time with an officer of the prison.

No cell approved by the Governor shall be altered without his consent.

Escape.

Every person who—

(1) escapes or attempts to escape from any prison or from legal custody; or

(2) aids any prisoner in escaping or attempting to escape from any prison or from legal custody; or

(3) with intent to facilitate the escape of any prisoner, conveys or causes to be conveyed into any prison any mink, dress or other dis-

FATHER SPADA'S ANNIVERSARY

FORTY YEARS' MINISTRY IN HONG KONG

CELEBRATIONS AT ROSARY CHURCH

There was a very large congregation at the Rosary Church, Kowloon, yesterday morning when the Very Rev. Father G. M. Spada celebrated his fortieth year as a priest in Hong Kong. Father Spada himself officiated at High Mass at 8.30, the Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Sanctus and Agnus Dei being beautifully sung by the choir.

After Benediction, the service concluded with the singing of a Solemn Te Deum.

Afterwards a reception was held at the Club de Recreo, which was attended by most of the Catholic community. Congratulatory speeches were made by Bishop Valterra, and Mr. Basto, who presented Father Spada with a purse subscribed by local Catholics.

Father Byrne, S.J., in a stirring oration, paid a tribute to Father Spada both as a priest and a friend and congratulated him on his long, faithful and useful ministry in the Colony.

Mr. G. P. de Martin also addressed the gathering, after which Father Spada, in a very witty speech, thanked them for their good wishes.

The many hundreds of Catholics present then individually congratulated Father Spada, who was obviously moved by this shower of good wishes.

guise, or any letter, or any other article or thing, shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years.

Unauthorized Luxuries.

No intoxicating liquor, opium or other drug, tobacco, money, clothing, provisions, letters, papers, books or any other article whatsoever shall be brought, thrown or in any manner introduced or conveyed into any prison, or conveyed to any prisoner while in custody outside the prison, or carried out of the prison, unless such use by authorized by the prison rules or by the Superintendent of Prisons.

Every person who contravenes this section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months.

Any officer of a prison convicted under this section shall, in addition to any other punishment, forfeit his office.

Inquests.

It shall be the duty of a magistrate discharging the duties of coroner to hold an inquiry on the body of every prisoner who may die within a prison, and in no case shall any officer of a prison, or any person engaged in any sort of trade or dealing with a prison, be a juror on such inquiry.

Part Payment of Fines, etc.

Where a person is committed to prison for non-payment of a sum adjudged to be paid by the conviction of any court, then, on payment being made of any sum in part satisfaction of the sum so adjudged to be paid and of any charges for which the prisoner is liable, the term of imprisonment shall be reduced by a number of days bearing as nearly as possible the same proportion to the total number of days for which the prisoner has been sentenced as the sum so paid bears to the sum for which he is so liable: Provided, nevertheless, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any sum of money which is ordered to be paid to any person aggrieved by way of compensation or amends for any injury, damage or loss to his person or property.

LOCAL WEEK-END WEDDINGS

MR. C. E. GAHAGAN AND MISS EILEEN MEDINA

St. John's Cathedral was the scene on Saturday of a pretty wedding, when Miss Eileen Barbara Medina, of Hong Kong, was married to Mr. Cyril Edwin Gahagan, of the staff of the Hong Kong Electric Co., Ltd. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. Gahagan and Mrs. Gahagan of Tankerton, Kent, England. Dean Swann officiated at the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by Mr. S. Deacon, looked very charming in a dress of ivory satin Juliette cap of orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of lilies. The bridesmaid, Miss Irene Deacon wore a dress of peach pink georgette, trimmed with fox fur, and silver lace, with a sequin cap. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli.

Mrs. Deacon, Matron of Honour, was dressed in a jade green and beige ensemble and carried a bouquet of flame gladioli.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Gahagan, who has travelled from Kent especially for the wedding, wore a dress of pale grey georgette trimmed with blue, carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. J. Gardner, of the Asiatic Petroleum Company, discharged the duties of best-man.

A reception was later held at the Hong Kong Hotel, after which the happy couple left for their honeymoon.

GENERAL'S SON WEDS MISS WONG

Chinese Society at Big Reception.

A fashionable wedding, uniting two well-known Chinese families, was solemnised in the All Saints Church, Ho Mun Tin, on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Wong Lu Hing, fourth daughter of Dr. B. C. Wong, M.B., B.S., L.M.S. (H.K.), of Kowloon, became the bride of Mr. Leung Pak Chung, son of General Leung Hing Kai, of Canton.

The Rev. Tsang Ki Ngok officiated, Miss Lu Hing was in attendance as bridesmaid, and Mr. Pong Pun Fung was the best man.

Later, a reception, at which nearly 370 guests attended, was held at the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel.

A dinner was given later at the Tai Min Sing Restaurant, Yaumatei, and was largely attended.

The honeymoon is being spent in Canton.

DR. TSO'S NICE MARRIED

Wedding of Miss Tso Wai Yu and Dr. Cheung Shiu Fan.

A wedding of considerable interest to the Chinese community in Hong Kong was celebrated at the Registry of Marriages on Saturday between Miss Tso Wai Yu, daughter of Mr. Tso Sen Kan, a retired Macao merchant, and a niece of the Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso, O.B.E., LL.D., B.S. of the staff of the Kwong Wah Hospital, and son of the late Mr. Cheung Hing Tin, a well-known merchant. Miss Tso Wai Yu was bridesmaid, while Mr. Eric Wong Tape was the best man.

A reception was later held on the roof garden of the Hong Kong Hotel, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. About 350 guests were present, including Sir William Hornell, Kt., vice-Chancellor of the University, Professor and Mrs. E. H. Digby, Professor and Mrs. W. Gerrard, Mr. Chan Lim Pak and many other distinguished guests.

ST. LEGER DANCE AT PENINSULA HOTEL

SPORTS CLUB'S SOCIAL SUCCESS

Race owners, jockeys, and many other prominent residents gathered in large numbers at the Peninsula Hotel on Saturday night to attend a supper dance given by the Sports Club. There were about three hundred people present.

Dancing commenced at 9 p.m. to the excellent music of the hotel's band and was continued until shortly before midnight, when the dancers adjourned from the Rose Room to the Roof Garden for supper, after which dancing was resumed until the early hours of the morning.

Among those present were:—Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Hon. Mr. J. Paterson, Hon. Mr. and Mrs. E. D. C. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Ho Leung, Mr. Lo Chueng Shi, Mr. M. K. Lo, and a large number of jockeys including Messrs. Frost, Butler, Charles, Caplan, A. W. da Roza, G. U. da Roza, Chanson, Wong, Tang and others.

In the absence of Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Chairman of the Sports Club, Mr. Ho Leung presided over the dinner and in a brief speech welcomed the guests and in particular, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe.

He reminded those present that when the Sports Club was inaugurated, the chief idea behind it was to foster a better understanding between the various communities in Hong Kong. He said that looking round the room he felt sure those present would agree that they had achieved that object. He mentioned that in a few weeks, lady members would be admitted to the Sports Club.

Speaking about the day's racing, Mr. Ho Leung congratulated Mr. Frost on winning two St. Legers out of three. He also congratulated Mr. Butler for winning on Polar Star.

Mr. Wolfe briefly replied on behalf of the guests and in response to many calls, Mr. Frost also made a short and witty speech. He expressed the hope that the dance, which was the first of its kind given by the Sports Club, would be followed by many more.

Post for Sir John Hope Simpson.

The British Government has suggested the nomination of Sir John Hope Simpson for the post of League of Nations Commissioner in Danzig in succession to the late Count Graven.

Sir John Hope Simpson was British High Commissioner in Palestine during the Arab agitation, and the experience he gained there in dealing with racial minorities makes him an admirable candidate for an ungrateful task like that vacant in Danzig. He is well known in China for his work in connection with Yangtze Valley flood relief schemes.

guished Chinese members of the medical profession and business circles.

After the reception the happy couple left for a honeymoon in Canton.

A dinner party was given in the evening at the Nam Tong Restaurant to which many relatives and friends were present.

CONFIDENCE SPOILED S.C.A.A. TEAMIt can be safely said that when the South China A.A. team took the field against the Club on Saturday they as well as their supporters confidently expected to win. This attitude however, proved to be their undoing. Early in the game the Club scored a goal and once they were in the lead they concentrated all their forces on the defence. At first, the Chinese team did not seem to mind the reverse, but when repeated raids on the Club goal brought no result, their confidence began to waver and this it was that robbed them of the points.Rodger in goal saved several spectacular shots and the backs, Martin and Hynes, together with the centre-half, Strange, played a marvellous game to keep out Ip Pak Wa, Fung
King Chung and the clever Chinese wings. With Rodger in goal, anything but a shot at close range was a futile effort, but the backs played so well for the Club, that shots at close range were not available, and when the interval arrived, the Chinese were a single goal in arrears.The second half found the Chinese making heroic efforts to get through the defence, they did get through on several occasions, but Rodger played like one possessed and shot as they would the Chinese forwards found him invincible. The final score on 1-0, in favour of the Club, certainly did not reflect the true state of affairs, as the Chinese had most of the game.The Lincolns, had they been favoured with a bit of luck might have emerged victorious in their game with the Royal Artillery, but luck was absolutely against them and although they drew first blood, the Artillerymen equalised early in the first half. The Lincolns then scored again, to lead by 2-1 at the interval.The R.A. however, were not disheartened by this reverse, and in the second half, they not only equalised, but drew ahead. The Lincolns had many opportunities in front of the R.A. goal, but failed to make full use of them. The final whistle found them one goal behind, the score being 3-2.Taylor, Bryant and Rodgers played a good game for the winners while Turner and Hackett had most of the work to do for the losers.Borderers v. Recreio.
Nine goals without reply was the late of the Recreio when they met the South Wales Borderers at King's Park. The soldiers were definitely superior and they might easily have doubled the score had they wished, but they "tored" around with the Recreio backs and goalkeeper.Four of the nine goals were scored in the first half.Kowloon v. Navy.
Kowloon surprised the Navy by their splendid display last Saturday when they won by three clear goals. The Navy side, although it had not been very strong, was still expected to give Kowloon a good run, but unfortunately they failed to combine together as a team.Bliss opened the scoring for Kowloon after twenty minutes play and before the interval Nelms added to the score. The Navy could not make use of their opportunities because of the clever Kowloon defence. The sides crossed goals ahead.The match was much better in the second half and both sides showedworked very hard to score for the Navy, but without success. Nelms scored a third goal for Kowloon and this reverse seem to deaden the game which finished very tamely.SECOND DIVISION.Borderers v. South China.
The Borderers were put to a real test on Saturday when, playing South China, they were two goals down in the early stages of the game. Kam Chung Lam and Wong King Chung scored for the Chinese but a penalty awarded against them resulted in a goal and the teams changed ends with the soldiers one goal in arrears.The Borderers played a much better game in the second half, but a little less selfishness might have brought quicker results. Pritchard, thanks to a beautiful solo effort, scored the equaliser and try as the Chinese would to get the winning goal, they found themselves up-against three very resolute halves.
A corner against the Chinese gave Lakeman an opportunity, which he did not fail to realise to the full, and the winning goal came just a few minutes before the end.Navy v. Eastern.
These two teams met in Kowloon and there was a big disparity between the strength of the sides, the sailors scoring nine goals against the Chinese who only managed to score one. Purkins was the outstanding player for the Navy while Benton, Warner and Sayer also played well. The Chinese goal came through O Yu Hin.Ewo v. St. Joseph's.
Played at Happy Valley, this game gave Ewo an easy victory.
They were far the better players and snatched up every opportunity to score. The College team were the first to score, thanks to a very good bit of work on the part of Rahmin, but thereafter the Ewo side settled down to good team work and by the final whistle had scored six goals in reply.Athletic v. Club.
The Chinese Athletics scored a 7-1 victory over the Club juniors and might have made the score much heavier had they not indulged in some fancy footwork.With the exception of Sloan and Punchon, the Club team did not show up well at all, and if the Chinese had not been so bent on playing in the gallery, they might have added many more goals to the score.Artillery v. Kowloon.
These teams put up a surprisingly high standard of football. There was some very heavy scoring in the first half, and when the interval came, the soldiers led by three goals to two. The second half saw Kowloon trying their best to equalise, but their forwards were found wanting in front of the goal.Just before the final whistle, the R.A. were successful again and they finished up with a victory of 4-2.Lincolns v. Taung Tsin.
The Lincolns were lucky to share the points with Taung Tsin, for the Chinese were two goals up early on. However, the Lincolns showed they were the superior team as even this setback did not dishearten them and they finished up with honours even.

FOOTBALLCHINESE ATHLETIC BEAT POLICEThe Police suffered severe defeat in their match against Chinese Athletic at Caroline Hill, yesterday, to the tune of six goals to one.
The football was not of a high standard, there was much goal play and wide kicks were prominent.The first half was almost anybody's but the Chinese inside right managed to get one home before the whistle.The Police continually attacked in the first part of the second half and Johnstone managed to defeat Wong in goal. The latter having previously distinguished himself.
The Police triumph of a draw was indeed short-lived, the Chinese centre forward beating Fraser at the net only a few seconds after the centre kick.It was at this point that the Police defence broke down and no less than four goals were scored in succession. The scorers being Mak, Chan and Ho (2).Teams.Chinese Athletic—Y. S. Wong;

EXCITING CRICKET AT HAPPY VALLEY

CIVIL SERVANTS EXTEND STRONG INDIAN TEAM

SPLENDID BATTING AND BOWLING PERFORMANCES

The champion I.R.C. team narrowly averted defeat at the hands of the Civil Service team on Saturday when, after being dismissed for the mediocre total of 70 they just managed to scrape home by 8 runs. Richardson and Reed routed the Indians, each bowler taking 5 cheap wickets, while for the Indians Pereira and Minu again did the damage.

The I.R.C. junior eleven had a similar narrow victory, defeating the R.A.S.C. by 7 runs.

On the Club ground, the H.K.C.C. drew with the United Services in their friendly engagement. E. Mitchell (70) and sub-Lt. Carver (60) were the outstanding batsmen, while A.C. Beck bagged 5 wickets for 53.

A. D. Lawson, playing for the Club second string against the Recreation team at King's Park, bowled magnificently in taking 9 wickets for 21, and enabled the Club team to win by 50 runs.

The K.C.C. first eleven had no difficulty in defeating Craighower on the latter's ground. Lay (30) and Perry (22) were in good form with the bat for K.C.C. Abbas was the most successful bowler for the home team, taking 3 wickets for 35.

NAVY BOXING TOURNAMENT

EXHIBITION CONTEST BY AMERICAN VISITORS

A COMPARISON

The Boxing Tournament of the Eighth Destroyer Flotilla drew a large crowd of officers and men to the Murray Barracks on Saturday night when some spirited contests were decided.

The main attraction of the evening was the six round contest between Seaman Tony of the U.S.S. Black Hawk, and Seaman Smith of the U.S.S. Barker. The contest was fought under American rules, and it was interesting to note the difference in styles as compared with those of the British contestants. Lieut. Hay of the U.S. Navy a boxer of Olympic repute referred the bout from within the ring, and provided a measure of the entertainment with some lightening footwork made necessary in the avoidance of the dancing contestants.

The Fight.

From the shadow of the ringside, the respective seconds watched the efforts of their protégés with almost parental yearning in their eyes, and when it was felt that a little encouragement was needed, offerings of "Shoot it in," "Give him the Works" were submitted in no uncertain voice.

The standard of boxing was very good and right throughout, the bout was fought in clean, vigorous fashion, each man giving and taking in true sporting spirit. "In-fighting" however, did not play such an important part in this fight as was evident in most of the British bouts, but the footwork, punching, and defensive tactics made the contest vitally interesting up to the final bell.

In all, eight contests took place, the standard of boxing in each being well up to that to which we have been accustomed in the past. In presenting the prizes, Capt. Burnett, R.N., O.B.E., paid tribute to the very fine exhibition given by all contestants, and particularly mentioned the sporting manner in which the losers had taken defeat.

Results.

The following were the results:—
Semi-Final:—Featherweight: A. C. Preston (H.M.S. Verity) beat A. B. Brand (H.M.S. Verity) on points.

Final:—Welterweight: S. P. O. Sheen (H.M.S. Verity) beat Grouch (H.M.S. Verity) on points.

A strong Y.M.C.A. team completely outclassed the Chinese Athletic team in their engagement in the former's pool at Kowloon yesterday afternoon, and won a one-sided match by 6 goals to 1. W. Goldman, a newcomer to the team scored the other goal, and gave a good account of himself at his initial showing. The only goal scored by the Chinese Athletics came from a smart shot by Yung Man Kiu.

The Y.M.C.A. team which will meet a team from the H.M.S. Olympus at 6 p.m. to-day will be: F. Webb, R. Maynard, H. Brokenshire, W. Campbell, A. Goldman, W. Schreuder and C. Aris.

INTERNATIONAL SPORT

FOLLOWING the Olympic Games at Los Angeles there appear to be signs of a reaction against international athletic competitions. A section of sports lovers and sports patrons are beginning to ask if these contests are worth-while if too much time and money are given to them? If the demands on the athletes are not too severe? and, finally, if international feeling is not on the whole worsened rather than improved by these events? It is easy to cite instances in support of this pessimistic attitude; to recall disputes at the recurrent Olympic Games; to dilate upon the Rugby football troubles in France; upon barracking-crickets-crowds in Australia; upon incidents even at aristocratic Wimbledon itself, where the "temperament" of a star of a few years ago found answer in the antics of a hostile group of spectators. Finally there is the sorry plea that it reflects on national prestige for Great Britain to be constantly beaten. When, moreover, it is suggested that the remedy lies in our own hands, the reply is made that only by sacrificing the spirit of British sport could we aim at establishing a better position in the arena. The will to win is a great factor in all sport, and there is always danger of its encroaching upon the concessions to opponents demanded by sportsmanship. In a Test Match of long ago the Hon. F. S. JACKSON, now H.E. the Governor of Bengal, hit a mighty catch into the deep field. It was missed, because a spectator impeded the fieldman. The next ball was hit deliberately in the same manner to the same fieldman. The sportsman's membership was magnificent, but his critical phase of the game was it fair to the side? The answer cannot be conclusive. Again there is the problem of where legitimate strategy ends and trickery begins. W. W. ARMSTRONG when leading the magnificent Australian team that visited England in 1931, permitted a second rate batsman to rattle up a big score against his best bowlers, in the hope that the English selectors would pick him for the next Test Match. They fell into the trap!

No great activity of the human race shows all profit and no loss, and this is very true of sport. Athletes are human. Perfect sportsmanship comes partly from character, partly out of training. The latter enables a control that by no means represents the inner feelings. The most skillful sportsmen are often by no means immaculate. Every cricketer smiles now at the countless anecdotes told of old "W.G." the greatest of all cricketers. "He never went outside the law but he did some queer things inside it." And yet is sport to be condemned because its spirit has not reached perfection? There are villages in England, where the local "football derby" still ends in a rough and tumble, but that is no reason for ending the fixture.

LORD BURTON, M.P., the famous athlete, and captain of the last British Olympic team, gave a spirited reply to critics who ask if it is worth while for England to send a team to the Games.

"It is no good Governments trying to make peace for peace unless there is the spirit to back them up. In the Olympic Games you find the spirit. This country had every reason to be proud of its team, both on and off the field. Their record showed that this country was not so effect as some people seemed to think."

These are the words of an athlete, who has the makings of a statesman. When all is said and done, has Anglo-Australian, and Anglo-African, cricket not been worth while? Has there really been less in the interchange of visits among golfers, footballers, polo and tennis exponent? But for these contests sport would be small and parochial. Would ball games be played, and athletics practiced in dozens of countries without international help at the beginning and matches at later stages? The bolder course is not without disadvantage, but it is none the less the right course. Sport is needed in a world where more and more leisure-time has to be absorbed. Sport has been called the antidote to war, and on the whole sportsmen uphold very admirably the honour both of the individual and of the country which they represent.

"YE OLDE ENGLISH FAIRE"

ANIMATED SCENES AT ST. ANDREW'S VICARAGE GARDEN

"ALICE IN WONDERLAND"—FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

"Oyez! Oyez!" sang the Town Crier, as he rang his bell to summon the good folk to the Village Green, where "Ye Olde English Faire," staged at St. Andrew's Vicarage garden, was declared open on Saturday by Mrs. J. R. Wood, wife of Mr. Justice J. R. Wood.

Villagers, heretofore, squires, dames, milkmaids, soldiers and visitors gathered round the green, beside Mrs. Baldwin's Olde English Cottage. Mr. Sun, beamed happily on the large gathering as the opening speeches were delivered.

Mr. P. S. Cassidy presided, and was supported by the Rev. W. Walter Rogers, Vicar of St. Andrew's, and Chairman of the Executive Committee, Mr. F. W. Dunn, Secretary, Mr. John W. Baldwin, Treasurer, and other members of the Committee responsible for the arrangements.

ENGLISH SONGS, FOOD AND COSTUMES

Such was the opening of the "Faire" at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon.

It will be recalled that the Olde English Faire of October, 1931, was a commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the opening of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, for public worship, when the word went round that some effort would be necessary to enable St. Andrew's to meet commitments for 1932, the suggestion of another Olde English Faire met with general approval.

The stalls lighting fittings and decorations were all under the able management of Mr. J. H. Hunt, O.B.E., of the Y.M.C.A., and the coloured flags and bunting presented a fine spectacle.

Round the Faire.

Now let us tour the Faire. We enter by the ordinary gate and walk up the path. A huge notice at the head of the steps cannot fail to draw attention—"Come kids and lasses. Come and Buy!" Now we turn to our left and take some interest in watching persistent "Tommy" trying to encourage "Daddy" to buy him "Billy Bunter's Album."

We pass on around the fancy stalls to a popular second-hand book stall. Then we cannot fail to be attracted by the "Empire" stall, managed by Mrs. C. E. Elliott-Heywood, where a prominent display of New Zealand Anchor Butter, donated by Messrs. Lane, Crawford, Ltd., proved a popular seller. Australian hams and bacon and Canadian fruits were also in brisk demand. Then there are the cake stalls, cigarettes and sweets, fruit and flowers and fancy baskets made by Scouts.

Then we come to the amusements, set out in fine array round the vicarage. Our representative was fortunate in winning a gold-fish with ten cents worth of ping-pong balls, but he was obliged to give it away rather than keep it in the office! The many other side shows included Hoop-la, Ducking stools, Skittles, Lucky Dip, Skee Ball and many other competitions.

Perhaps the most popular and novel amusement was a fifty-yard ride in a breeches-bugby ably managed by the Boy Scouts. Mr. Jefferys with the assistance of Messrs. Selk, Dormer and Wiggins and the Boy Scouts were responsible for the games.

Now! There's no one watching you! Hurry round to the gipsy's tent—"Cassandra!" the palmist and soothsayer—

Here's a gipsy who foretells, "If you're money—wedding bells!"

Tea was served on the Vicarage lawn between 3.30 and 6 o'clock and suppers from 7 till 9 p.m., and a wonderful tea it was with delicious sandwiches and real home-made cakes. The butter, by the way, was "Empire" New Zealand Anchor.

At intervals during the afternoon, the "Strolling Players" Messrs. S. A. Sweet, R. Woolley, J. W. Baldwin, H. Kew, E. H. P. White and L. Baldwin, presented a splendid little show, in which the popular old folk songs of England were excellently sung. "Madame Bother" completely bewildered us with a three-coin trick; while Professor Lofly, "the longest man in existence," possessed the amazing ability of singing two songs at once! Then the Boy Scouts had a turn and lived up to their motto, by "being prepared" to perform incredible exercises, back-to-front!

The rustic revelleries of Pyramus and Thisbe were presented, in spirited fashion the costumes being a great success; the Prologue was ably managed by "Bottom the Weaver" (Mr. S. A. Sweet).

Having emerged from the "theatre" at the conclusion of the performance, old English folk dances were presented on the Village Green and received prolonged applause. They included the Maypole dance, an early Victorian Gavotte, dance of the Wooden Soldiers, and a country dance, "Newcastle," all of which were done by girls of the Diocesan Girls' School under the direction of Miss W. Henderson.

At 8 o'clock, the Young People's Service presented the story-play, "Alice in Wonderland," and it was easily in the front rank of "Wonders," the parts, familiar to every child, being spoken well, and the young players put their whole hearts into the production. The leading part, "Alice," taken by Miss Yvonne Martin, was acted with the greatest of skill and sincerity. The humour throughout, was of a high standard, but despite the raga of laughter from an appreciative audience, the actors continued their parts quite seriously and calmly. The absolute wooden voice in which the Mock Turtle said that at school they used to call their master "Tortoise" because he "taught us," was too much for the audience which collapsed in laughter.

The scenes were as follows:—
Act 1: Alice's entry into Wonderland.
Act 2: The Mad Tea Party.
Act 3: Alice's adventures in the garden.
Act 4: The Mock Turtles Lamentations.
Act 5: The Trial of the Knave of Hearts.

OPIUM ORDINANCE

DRAFT OF AMENDMENT

The draft has been issued of an Ordinance to amend the Opium Ordinance of 1932.

It is explained that in Article I of the Opium Agreement signed at Bangkok on the 27th of November, 1931, it was provided that the retail sale and distribution of opium should take place only from Government shops or, where local circumstances make the establishment of Government shops difficult, from shops managed under Government supervision, by persons appointed by the Government for that purpose and remunerated by a fixed payment and not by a commission on sales.

This Ordinance accordingly adds a proviso to section 10 of the principal Ordinance making it clear that the power to appoint suitable persons to sell prepared opium is to be exercised only where local circumstances make the establishment of Government opium shops difficult.

The amending Ordinance also adds a sub-section to section 13 of the principal Ordinance to give effect to Article 111 of the Bangkok Agreement which requires that prepared opium should be sold only for cash.

The proviso to section 20 of the principal Ordinance, which permitted passengers under special permit to carry small quantities of prepared opium for personal consumption on the voyage, is repealed. No special permits have been issued and the proviso is considered to be in conflict with Article 6 of the Geneva Prepared Opium Agreement of February, 1925, under which His Majesty's Government have undertaken to prohibit, without exception, the export of opium from any possession or territory into which it is imported for the purpose of smoking.

grounds, and from each tree a little red, white and blue lamp winked down on the happy throng, while a huge spot-light illuminated the village green. A neon light was kindly sent by The Phoenix Neon Light Co., Ltd., and was suspended over the entrance gates. The Faire closed with a fancy dress carnival in the Church Hall, from 9 to 11.30 p.m.

The proceeds of the afternoon were in aid of Church Funds, the special purpose being the newly-installed electric fans in the Church, and certain obligations in respect of Church Extension work.

The Stalls.

The very many stalls which were at all times thronged by bargain hunters, were as follows:—
Fancy Goods—Muthers' Union—Lender, Mrs. J. W. Baldwin.

Many bargains were seized at the second-hand book store run by Mr. and Mrs. Rose.
"Sunfrees" ice-creams were on sale from a stall run by the St. Peter's Branch of the V.P.M.A., while home-made Ginger Beer and Brandy Snaps were dispensed from the Olde English Cottage by Mrs. Rupert Baldwin and her helpers.

COMMONS' DEBATE
ON UNEMPLOYMENTSOLUTION OF DIFFICULTIES SOUGHT

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 6. MANY private members as well as members of the Government and leaders of the Opposition contributed to the first stage of the three days' debate on unemployment yesterday.

The purpose of the discussion is to pool ideas in a non-partisan spirit for the solution of unemployment difficulties.

Many references were made last night to the excellent voluntary efforts undertaken by civil and national organizations for providing useful occupations and health recreation for men without employment, and suggestions were made for their development.

The Minister of Labour, Sir Henry Ketterson, confirmed the forecast of improved statistics, details of which will be available in returns to be issued on Monday night.

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS
IMPROVE

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 4. During the first day's debate on the unemployment problem in the House of Commons, the Minister for Labour, Sir Henry Ketterson, said he believed it had been proved that the effects of the state to stem the abnormal unemployment by expediting public works had failed, and that whatever usefulness they might have had was now exhausted.

In the year preceding September, 1931, the number of persons in employment decreased by 1,000,000. Last year, however, the number in employment was practically unchanged. There was no falling back and only in a minority of industries had the position deteriorated.

The new unemployment figures, to be published on Monday, would show an improvement. As one-third of the unemployed are engaged in industries mainly affected by world conditions, it was a matter of real satisfaction to the Government that the position had been largely maintained while conditions abroad had so seriously deteriorated.

HUNGER MARCHERS
RETURN HOMESADDER BUT WISER
MEN

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 6. THE remainder of the 2,000 unemployed marchers who came to London to hold demonstration meetings ten days ago left for their homes to-day by train. Others returned earlier by motor coach.

Railway companies had undertaken to transport them at exceptionally low fares of three miles for one penny.

The marchers expressed appreciation at this generous offer and pointed out that the fact that only a handful of the number had been charged as a result of the disorders in London, shows they had not come for violent or illegal purposes.

The general impression is their march was manipulated by a few hooligans desiring to create disorder and that the demonstrations gave an opportunity for the rowdy Metropolitan elements to cause trouble.

ARCTIC EXPLORERS
REWARDED

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 6. H.M. the King has approved the conferring of a medal in silver with a clasp inscribed "Arctic 1930/1931" to fourteen members of the British Arctic Route Expedition.

A posthumous award to H. G. Wilkins, the brilliant young leader, who was drowned through the overturning of his Eskimo canoe, is included.

The purpose of the expedition was to explore the Arctic ice on the Cape of Greenland, with a view to establishing an All-British Air Route across the Arctic to Canada.

The Parliamentary delegation will be constituted as follows:—Premier MacDonald, President of the Conference, Viscount Sankey, who will take the chair in the Prime Minister's absence, Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary for India, Viscount Hailsham, Secretary for War, Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, Lord Irwin, Ex-Viceroy of India and now for Education, Mr. F. C. C. Davidson, who was Chairman of the India States Committee appointed by the last Round Table Conference, and Mr. Butler, Under-Secretary for India.

The non-Government delegates are Earl Peel, formerly Secretary for India, Earl Winterton, former Under-Secretary for India, the Marquess of Reading, former Viceroy, Marquess of Lothian, until recently Under-Secretary for India and Chairman of the Indian Statutory Commission.

A Strong Delegation. The British delegation is probably the strongest ever associated with Indian affairs. Sir John Simon's inclusion is of particular interest as he is one of ministers with the greatest knowledge of India. He was Chairman of the Indian Statutory Commission appointed to enquire into "constitutional reforms" and was author of the report which generally bears his name.

The task of the forthcoming Conference is to harness the aspirations and ideals of the predecessors to the realities of the Indian political conditions and British Parliamentary responsibilities.

The strength of the delegation indicates the importance which the Government attaches to its deliberations. The Government believes that with goodwill and patience, and the desire and capacity to understand each other's point of view shown at the Round Table Conference, they should be able to make progress in securing a measure of agreement as a preliminary to the concluding stage of Parliamentary discussion and legislation.

CABINET STILL CONSIDERS DISARMAMENT PLAN

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, Nov. 4. The Government's disarmament policy is still under the careful consideration of members of the Cabinet. An important debate on disarmament will take place in the House of Commons next Thursday.

Great interest is being displayed in the subject by members of Parliament and questions, particularly with regard to aerial disarmament, have been tabled for next week.

Regarding the Lytton Report, there are two official versions, of which the Geneva version is the one actually issued under the authority of the League of Nations. The second official edition is one printed for the Nationalist Government of China by Kelly and Walsby Ltd., Shanghai, of which a few copies are available for the public. This was primarily printed for Government use. In any question of difference, the Geneva version would be preferred.

At least one unofficial version has been issued in Shanghai, but naturally either of the two official versions, preferably the Geneva one, should be referred to and would be referred to for official purposes.

ELECTION DAY IN GERMANYSTERN MEASURES
PREVENT RIOTS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6. Election day opened dull and rainy; only a few trams are running, so a heavy poll is unlikely. Polling opened at 9 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. The final result is not likely to be known until early on the morning of November 7.

So far everything is peaceful throughout the country, except for a Nazi-Communist collision at Essen, where shots were fired and stones thrown when one Nazi was severely injured.

There were the usual election scenes in Berlin, a representative of each Party bearing an election poster outside the polling station, which is generally a "Tavern."

The Nazis are not in uniform. Streets in the working-class districts are full of Party placards, mostly Communist.

The police are patrolling the streets and processions and meetings are prohibited.

Hindenburg Casts His Vote. Only 25 to 30 per cent. of the electorate voted by noon, including Hindenburg who voted at 9.16 a.m. for the German Nationals at a small café near his residence where he was cheered by a crowd on his departure.

Von Papen and other Ministers also voted this morning. The morning papers front page appeals to the electorate to vote en masse for their parties. The Right journals proclaim that only Von Papen will save Germany from ruin. The left urge Germany as a democratic state, a "Government of Barons" is useless.

40 Per Cent. Vote by 2.30 p.m.

At 2.30 p.m. it is estimated that forty per cent. of the electorate had voted.

All is quiet, but two police planes are flying over the city ready to wireless and warn Headquarters in event of disturbance. A few buses appeared on the streets heavily guarded by police. Underground railway traffic is being extended.

TRAMLINES FILLED WITH CEMENT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Nov. 5. Apart from a limited tram service under police protection, the city is without means of transport this morning.

Communists and other extremists during the night filled up the tramlines with cement and threw bricks and stones in many places in the suburbs.

Flying squads of armed police are dashing round the city, prepared for trouble, but up to now there has been no disorder. Attempts of the extremists to persuade other workers to join a general strike have so far proved unsuccessful.

Two more Communist papers have been suppressed but the strike excitement is really overshadowed by the election. In Berlin a largely decreased poll is likely if the stoppage continues in the transport service.

OLD MAN AND HIS CHILDREN

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

STRANGE INCIDENT ON THE PRAYA.

An old man of sixty-one, described as a former foreman, in the employ of the Public Works Department, was charged before Mr. Kennedy Skipton on Saturday with the attempted murder of his two children aged 9 and 3 respectively.

Detective Inspector Shastri, said that the Secretariat of Chinese Affairs had had its attention drawn to the case by a complaint from the man's wife. The man went to the Praya at Wanchai, with the two children, and after throwing in the older, a girl aged 9 into the harbour, he jumped in with the other, an infant of three years.

Boatpeople in the vicinity saw what was happening and all three were rescued. Afterwards the children were given into the charge of their grandmother.

The case was remanded for a week.

IN COMMONS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Nov. 6. THE question of the administration of justice in the International Settlement at Shanghai will be raised in Parliament on Nov. 7. Mr. Wadsworth will ask the Foreign Secretary "whether any, if so what, steps are being taken by the Government to provide for the revision of the Agreement expiring on April 1, 1933, between the Chinese Government and the Powers representing the International Settlement relating to the Special District Court at Shanghai."

Earl Peel will open the debate in the House of Lords on November 15 on the same subject.

POLICE FORCE AND ITS POWERS

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

SEARCH AND FINGER
PRINTSHOW DISCIPLINE IS MAINTAINED

The current number of the Gazette publishes a draft bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the establishment and regulation of the Police Force.

The Objects and Reasons state that the Ordinance consolidates and to some extent amends the law for the establishment and regulation of the Hong Kong Police Force.

A general power has been vested in the Inspector General to make regulations governing leave and passages for subordinate members of the civilian staff.

The new offences of wilfully giving false information to the police, with intent to defeat or delay the ends of justice, has been created. The case of Bastable v. Little (1900, 1 K.B., 59) goes to show that wilful misleading may amount to obstruction of a police officer but it seems better to have the offence clearly defined.

Discipline of the Force.

The Bill throws interesting light on the regulations under which the Police Force is governed.

Subject to the general control of the governor in council it shall be lawful for the Inspector General to make such regulations as he may consider necessary for:—

- (a) The general government and discipline of the force;
- (b) Regulating the internal economy of the force;
- (c) Carrying out the daily routine of the force; and
- (d) Prescribing the conditions under which leave and passages will be granted to subordinate officers and constables and members of the civilian staff.

All regulations made under this section have to be published by the Inspector General in the form of Police General Orders and come into effect on the date of such publication.

It is not necessary to publish in the Gazette any such regulations. All regulations made under this section circulated to the members of the Executive Council, and it is lawful for the Governor in Council to rescind or amend in any manner any such regulation.

Subordinate Officers. Every subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

If any subordinate officer (not above the rank of sub-inspector) or constable or member of a crew who is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or who is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order made thereunder, shall be liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and to imprisonment for any term not exceeding six months, and shall, if any term of imprisonment be imposed, forfeit all pay during his imprisonment.

U.S. ELECTION
CAMPAIGNHOOVER'S EFFORT TO RETAIN PRESIDENCY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

St. Louis, Nov. 6. In a 10,000-word broadside, President Herbert Hoover accused the Democrats of conducting a campaign of avoidance based on false promises, employing the deliberate misrepresentation and colossal falsehood that the Republicans were responsible for the world economic catastrophe.

"They express no gratitude that in my manufacture in this world I let the United States off easier than Russia, Western Europe and South America," the President said.

He blamed the "Great War," its aftermath of War Debts and the liquidation of war inflation, a necessity to maintain a larger army and navy to protect the country in a greatly disturbed world. He said if the Democrats wished to find solutions for the guidance of the American people they should not ignore these burdens nor the effect on the world, and America as well, of the enormous blotting out of lives in the World War, the fabulous waste of property, the fabulous increase of debts and armaments and the continued friction and hate that had arisen among foreign nations out of harsh treaties.

Roosevelt's Denunciation.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 4. In New York the prediction of a Democrat victory was heard on all sides. Tuesday saw Governor Roosevelt before a huge Democratic rally, attended by Mr. Al Smith and other Tammany leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt denounced the Hoover Administrations as "distinguished by its destruction, delay, deceit and despair."

Mr. Roosevelt offered no Utopia, no gospel of fear of panic, but a practical, common sense Democratic platform.

Chicago, Nov. 6.

The Republican campaign headquarters announced that former President Calvin Coolidge will join Mr. Hoover in a final appeal to the electorate by radio on the eve of election.

constable or member of a crew is guilty of any refusal or neglect of duty, or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct, or is guilty of any contravention of any of the provisions of this Ordinance or of any regulation or departmental order it shall be lawful for the Inspector General, Deputy Inspector General or any Divisional Superintendent to inflict any or all of the following punishments:—

- (a) Reduction in rank or class;
- (b) A fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars;
- (c) Drills, not exceeding ten in number;
- (d) Loss of pay during any period of absence from duty.

For offences of the above nature Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent has power to inflict:—

- (a) A fine not exceeding five dollars;
- (b) Drills, not exceeding five in number.

The civilian staff can be penalised by the Inspector General, Deputy Inspector General or any Divisional Superintendent to the extent of:—

- (a) A fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars;
- (b) Loss of pay during any period of absence from duty.

All fines are paid into the Treasury and applied to such purposes in connexion with the force as the Governor may direct.

The Governor, on the representation of the Inspector General, can dismiss any subordinate officer or constable or member of the civilian staff for any refusal or neglect of duty or insubordination or breach of discipline or misconduct.

Rewards.

The Governor is empowered to grant rewards to any members of the force, members of a crew, or police interpreters, who may distinguish themselves by extraordinary diligence, zeal or exertion in the execution of their duties.

The rewards take the form of distinctive badges or medals.

Powers of Search.

Dealing with public powers of search the ordinance states:—

Whoever it appears to a magistrate upon the oath of any person that there is reasonable cause to suspect that there is in any building, vessel (not being a ship of war or a ship having the status of a ship of war) or place, any newspaper, book or other document, which may throw light on the activities of any person liable to apprehension or on the character or activities of the associates of any such person, such magistrate may by warrant directed to any officer of police empower him, with such assistants as may be necessary, by day or by night:—

GEN. MA MARCHES
ON TSITSIHARSTRUGGLE FOR CITY
IMMINENT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 6. In an attempt to wrest Tsitsihar from the Japanese, General Ma Chan Shan's forces, together with Volunteers, are converging on the city, which promises to be the theatre of a large-scale struggle before long, according to Chinese reports.

Ma Chan Shan's vanguards, it is reported, have reached Yang Chia Tzu in the vicinity of Tsitsihar. Their advance has been facilitated by the defection of a Brigade of Manchukuo troops, who deserted their Japanese allies at the crucial moment.

Meanwhile General Su Ping Wen is turning a deaf ear to all overtures to return to the Manchukuo fold and has yet again telegraphed to Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang expressing his determination not to come to terms with the Japanese.

More than 90 persons died in the mishap near Moscow on October 16, and 300 were injured.

Other railway employees were given prison terms of various lengths.

STATION MASTER SHOT DEAD

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Tokyo, Nov. 5. Three railway employees, including a deputy station-master, were shot to death and three were burned to death when a party of 80 mounted Chinese bandits carried out a daring surprise attack on the important junction of Saupingai, on the South Manchuria Railway mainline, shortly after midnight yesterday.

A goods train which was about to leave the station for Daien narrowly escaped by putting on full speed but the station was set afire and destroyed completely.

The raiders vanished as suddenly as they had come.

It shall be lawful for any officer of police to take the photograph, finger prints, weight and measurements:—

The Policeman's Tot.

Every keeper of any place for the sale of liquors whether spirituous or not, who knowingly harbours or entertains any officer of police, or permits him to remain in such place, while on duty, shall upon summary conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars.

Week End Sport.

QUALITY TELLS: POLAR STAR WINS.

THE GIRAFFE WELL RIDDEN BY MR. FROST: RACING BOY AND LIBERTY BAY WIN.

SADKO'S GREAT EXHIBITION IN OPENING RACE

[By "MORNING DEW"]

Polar Star, the crack Australian pony, which won the Derby and Champions in the Spring, proved himself an outstanding pony, when he came in first in the Freemantle St. Leger on Saturday, in convincing manner, from The Giraffe and Lucy Glitters. One could not help feeling, while the race was in progress that despite all that Mr. Frost could do with The Giraffe, Polar Star was far too stiff a problem for The Giraffe.

Liberty Bay and Racing Boy, as generally anticipated won the Griffins' and the Sub-griffins St Leger respectively, both ponies being ridden by Mr. Frost.

WILD LIFE'S PLUCKY EFFORT

One of the best races seen at Happy Valley for many a day was that between Liberty Bay and Wild Life in the Hong Kong St. Leger. Wild Life put up a plucky, but unavailing effort to win from the Dunbar "Crack" Liberty Bay.

There were four starters in the Hong Kong St. Leger, and Navy Hall led the field in an uneven start. Wild Life, however, was quickly sent into the lead but Mr. Pan was content to make a slow race of it at first. Liberty Bay, so long as the pace was slow, was kept at the rear. After the first half mile however, the pace suddenly quickened and with that the race developed into a contest between Liberty Bay and Wild Life for first place and between Blue Star and Navy Hall for third place.

Wild Life rapped out the third quarter in 29 seconds and followed it up with another of the 30, but try as he would he could not get the lead. Instead, Liberty Bay stayed with him and at the Rock drew ahead of him, the pace being terrific by this time. At the Village, before entering the Home straight, Wild Life had had enough and he fell rapidly back. Liberty Bay was three lengths in front on entering the straight and Mr. Frost immediately eased the pony up. Wild Life made one more effort in the straight and although the pony responded as well as might be expected after the grueling earlier on, he could make no impression on Liberty Bay, who came home on the bit. Six lengths was the official verdict.

FOLLOW "MORNING DEW"

SIX WINNERS OUT OF EIGHT RACES

The "Daily Press" tips for Saturday's Racing contained six winners out of eight races. In the remaining two races the winners were among those selected for places.

Meanwhile, Blue Star and Navy Hall stuck together neck and neck all the way round and both ponies ran so well that the judges could not separate them at the end of the race and awarded a dead-heat for third place.

Racing Boy's Win.

Racing Boy's win in the Sub-griffins Leger was as spectacular as that of Liberty Bay's. There were seven starters and when the flag fell Mr. Pan riding Chiu Quan sent the pony out in front. He was followed by Golden Arrow, Cy-pres, Bistre and Racing Boy. There was not much change of position for first six furlongs, but at this point Bistre passed Chiu Quan, only to be re-passed. At the five furlongs post Bistre and Chiu Quan were together again with Racing Boy and Cy-pres four lengths behind. Bistre then slowly drew ahead and after passing the Rock he was three lengths in front of Chiu Quan, with Racing Boy third a further length behind. Just before entering the straight, Racing Boy drew up with Chiu Quan and Bistre was by then only four lengths ahead. Up to the Distance post, it was very open, but after that Racing Boy drew away and took the lead. Chiu Quan followed him, but after a short time he was four lengths behind. Chiu Quan was six lengths behind the second.

How Polar Star Won.

Polar Star was second favourite to The Giraffe in the Freemantle St. Leger and the ponies made a good race of it over a mile and three quarters. Mr. Frost on The Giraffe chose a fast race for his mount and returned 1.50 for the first mile. Friar Tuck was well up at that point with Polar Star and Lucy Glitters third, several lengths behind. Tin Tao was out of the race after the first mile.

Friar Tuck dropped out of the race five furlongs from home and by the time the Rock was reached Polar Star and The Giraffe were far enough ahead to consider the others out of the race. Polar Star took a slight lead on entering the straight, but The Giraffe was level again at the two miles post and slightly ahead at the Distance Post. Thereafter however, Polar Star drew out and in the last furlong established his superiority. He won by two and a half lengths. Lucy Glitters came along with a big rush in the last half mile to finish third.

Sadko's Win.

Of the rest of the racing, Sadko's win the opening race was a treat to watch, the pony returning the fast time of 1 minute 58.1 seconds. Gay Crusader led most of the way followed by Pride of Tsingtao with Sadko a good distance behind. Half a mile from home however, Mr. Harriman sent up Sadko and taking no chances, passed the leader before the distance post. The effort however almost cost the pony the race as Gay Crusader put in a last minute spurt and finished within half a length of Sadko. Glensagles, a well fancied candidate finished third.

Lunar Star and Bright Star finished first and second in the seven furlongs sprint with The Tiger taking third place. Valorous was a disappointment and I am afraid this pony will have to wait a long time for a win unless the handicapper takes some of the lead off him. The Crook, ridden by A. W. da Roza drew away from a big field to win the "E" Class race over a mile and a quarter. Valley Hall was troubled by the 105 pounds he had to look after and Mr. da Roza, choosing a fast race for The Crook, spoiled any chance Valley Hall might have had of winning. Adam looks as though he ought to go back to the "G" Class as in his two appearances in the "D" he had finished third and first respectively. His win on Saturday was a close affair, but he was carrying top weight and promotion for Adam seems to be the simplest way of equalising the chances for the "D" Class ponies.

TONY CANZONERI RETAINS HIS WORLD TITLE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

New York, Nov. 5. Tony Canzoneri, hardhitting young Italian lightweight, successfully defended his world title against the assault directed against it by Billy Petrolle. Petrolle, known for his gameness, could not punish the wily champion sufficiently in 15 rounds of fighting to gain the points necessary. Both these little men are popular, and amongst the most finished of all the men in the ring to-day.

in SIGNS

THE owners of these houses both believe in signs... but different kinds! The one has flaunted a "for seems to notice it. But the other chap wisely let his sign take the form of a classified ad. And now his sign reads

"SOLD!"

"CHARLIE CHAN'S CHANCE"

DETECTIVE THRILLER AT KING'S THEATRE

In crime stories and films, the detectives, though they generally have a faithful subordinate, are often as jealous as prima donnas of their colleagues of equal rank.
In this film a New York Inspector,
a visiting inspector from Scotland
Yard, and the celebrated Charlie Chan, work together as a most formidable team, each playing his part with the single aim of solving the mystery. An English police commissioner is found dead, apparently heart failure. Charlie notifies, however, that a cat, lying under a chair, is also dead. Obviously a poison gas bomb! From then onwards the audience moves in the baffling centre of the crime.
There are clues that lead nowhere, and innocent people who behave—as in real life they will do—in a most unaccountable fashion. This gives an admirable idea of what must be the actual task of unraveling a complicated crime in a great city.

The film is well acted, Marian Nixon is a very beautiful heroine, and acts well as the "lured woman." Kirkland, Warner Oland and H. B. Warner make an excellent trio of sleuths. Warner Oland has, of course, perfected his part of Charlie Chan, and H. B.
Warner's subtle and polished acting is always a delight.

The filming is notable for the vivaciousness of the night scenes in New York, and marks all the latest devices of the photographic art.
Charlie Chan films are always good entertainment. The confusion is, perhaps, overdone, but the large audiences were thoroughly gripped by the story, if still mystified when it was all over.

SUNSHINE SUSIE

After the run of "Charlie Chan's Chance"—that means on Wednesday or Thursday—the management of the King's Theatre is again screening "Sunshine Susie," the delightful musical comedy, in which Jack Hulbert, Owen Nares, and that very fascinating person,
Renate Muller, excel themselves.
The singing all though is delightful and the theme song will haunt you for days. "Sunshine Susie" will make many new friends and all old ones will pay a return visit when she again appears at the King's Theatre.

"CARNIVAL" AT THE CENTRAL

BRITISH AND DOMINIONS
PRODUCTION

A trade notice states:—
"Carnival," one of the outstanding British pictures of the year, and the first of the British and Dominions new releases, opened at the Central Theatre yesterday.
Seldom has such a delightful production been seen on the screen, and all should see it. They will enjoy the delights of a glittering spectacular production. The main features of this unusual film are, the melodramatic sequences which have been deftly woven with rhythmic music, played by a fine band, into some of the most colourful and artistic scenes which have yet been seen.

There is glamour about "Carnival," the sound film adaptation of the famous stage play, that lifts it well above the average. Gorgeously mounted, beautifully acted and produced, it certainly deserves the praise showered upon it when at the Tivoli, London, where by the way, it broke box-office records.
The Venetian scenes, are superlatively lovely, and Herbert Wilcox, the director, has brilliantly succeeded in imbuing the spirit of carnival throughout the film. Matheson Lang has his original role, in which he is magnificent, and Dorothy Bouchier (once Chili) Bouchier proves a lovely and talented actress.

THE "WET PARADE"

A FILM ABOUT
PROHIBITION
IN AMERICA

"The Wet Parade" at the Queen's is an excellent show. What also could it be? With such actors as Dorothy Jordan, Lewis Stone, Neil
Hamilton, Robert Young, Myrna Loy and Joan Marsh.

The story is centred round prohibition in America. The aristocratic Roger Chisole (Lewis Stone) lives in old-time Southern style on his plantation in Louisiana, before the World War. He and all his friends drink, but he is an unfortunate one who cannot "hold his liquor" and, as a result, he meets with financial losses, and finally commits suicide. He leaves his brilliant son, Roger, Jr. (Neil Hamilton), and a daughter Maggie May (Dorothy Jordan). After his death, Maggie May becomes an avowed enemy of liquor in any form.

Roger goes to New York to write a play and stays at Tivoli House, operated by Rowland Trelton-(Walter Huston), member of a fine Southern family, who also has lowered his position in the world because of his passion for drink.

He is now a ward boss and, at this hotel, Roger becomes a friend of Kip Tarleton (Robert Young), the owner's son, and of Jerry, a young reporter. Roger has inherited his father's appetite for liquor, and thus he finds kindred souls. Maggie May comes to New York to try to straighten Roger out, and meets Kip. They fall in love.
The World War occurs, followed by the election of Woodrow Wilson as president for a second term.
And now the prohibition law is passed. Unable to get good liquor, Pow Tarleton drinks poisoned alcohol and, in a moment of insanity, kills his wife, and is sent to prison for life. Roger's play is a success and he becomes a popular member of New York's night club society, ultimately getting into a disillusioning affair with an actress.
Kip becomes a prohibition officer and finds that graft, police interference, politics and public sentiment hamper his work. Meanwhile, Roger goes blind from wood alcohol and Maggie May and Kip take care of him. Then comes a sensational climax in which Abe (Jimmy Dunne) pays his price for his belief in prohibition.

&
FACT.

Tallulah Again.

Tallulah Bankhead may be expected back in London at the height of the next season, that is, about the end of May.

She will appear in a new comedy
at a leading West End Theatre.
The last play she appeared in was,
"Let Us Be Gay."

Movie Actress has 314 Dogs.

The addition to-day of two dogs, plato and Poppa, to her private "kennels," brought Wynne Gibson's collection of canines up to the record-breaking total of 314.

The paramount actress, now appearing in "Night After Night," is the owner of Hollywood's strangest collection of pets. None of her dogs bites, barks cats or performs tricks.

Among her novel "breeds" are chins, glass, carved wood, cloth, brize and iron dogs. She has every kind of canine statuette on the market, and obtains new ones as soon as they come out.

All of her dogs names start with the letter "P." Among them are Przewalski, Percy, Patrick, Pauline, Perianador and Bliny.

Curious Colour.

A stranger walking round the Paramount lot might have a shock
if he suddenly bumped into a man wearing evening dress, with a yellow shirt, a pink collar and a blue tie. But it would only be Chester Morris, all dressed up for the camera.

He always wears this curious combination of colours, which photograph white.

Change-Over.

Lilyan Tashman once had a beautifully decorated green-and-white dressing-room at the studio. It is now occupied by Claudette Colbert.

We wonder what Lilyan has to say about it?

No One Like Ann.

With the Anna Harding-Harry Baermeister divorce only recently settled, already there are rumours of another marriage. It was said that Harry was going to marry a blonde young Society girl. He was approached on the subject by the newspaper men, but he flatly denied it.

"I'm told she looks like Ann Harding," said one bright reporter.
"Not at all," replied Harry.
"There's no one like Ann Harding." And that ended the interview.

Lupino's Daughter.

Miss Ida Lupino, daughter of Mr.
Stanley Lupino and his wife, Miss Connie Emerald, has her first star part in the talkie "Her First Affair."

Large Wardrobe.

Marlene Dietrich, star of Para-mount's widely-discussed "Blonde Venus," which Josef Von Sternberg is directing, has twenty-seven changes of costume in the picture.

The Other Extreme.

What a fuss there was over Shanghai Express because Marlene Dietrich wore long skirts all the way through, which concealed her wonderful legs.

Now, however, Marlene's gone to the other extreme, and in "The Blonde Venus" wears a cloth-of-gold costume something like the modern bathing dress, only very much more so. There should be no complaints this time.
